

Resolving Commercial Disputes With Mediation

Settle your dispute your way, with a fraction of the time, money, and stress of going to court.

Resolving a financial or contractual dispute doesn't need to be complicated. Keep things simple by using our mediation service.

Mediation is a quick and straightforward process where you and the other side are brought together with a commitment to try and work out a solution. A professional mediator then organises a series of individual and joint sessions, in which the parties discuss and agree how to bring the dispute to an end. It concludes with a written agreement, which can be made binding.

Mediation has been proven to be successful in around 80% of cases. And, even if an agreement isn't reached, it has also been shown to get negotiations started to where there might be one further down the line.

Choose UK Mediation to provide you with a highly-skilled and vastly-experienced mediator. We set the standards for mediation practice in the UK, priding ourselves on the quality of service that we can offer you.

Mediation is...
